A remarkable feat was accomplished the other day by an accomplished, Miss Emily Kemp. She has safely negotiated the "Karakoram" which lies between India and Tibet. The feat was accomplished in a motor car, and the journey took her about a month.

One of the greatest of French actresses, Mme. Judith, died in a few days ago, at the age of eighty-five. She enjoyed a long career in which she was known not only on the stage, but in the literary world. She was a close friend of Georges Sand, Victor Hugo, Louis Napoleon and the younger Dumas. She appeared first on the professional stage at Les Folies in 1842. She created many great roles at the Comédie Française from which she retired in 1880 to be married to Bernard Dorey. In 1890 she reappeared after many years in a revival and was warmly applauded. With her husband she translated from English Dickens' novels.

A meeting to consider the formation of a skating club was held in the hall of the Moose on Friday afternoon, when it was decided that nothing could be done concerning the club. It is the intention of former club members to make arrangements with some other club in town to meet on Saturday afternoon.

HIGHEST PRICE FOR A POEM.

What is the highest price ever paid by a publisher for a poem? It would be interesting to know whether any advance has ever been made on the 2,000 pounds that Scott received for "Robbery."

Mr. Stephen Gwynn, in his life of Moore, tells us that Murray offered 2,000 guineas for the copyright of "Robbery."

Mr. Moore's friends thought he should have more and going to Longman they claimed that Mr. Moore should receive no less than 2,000 guineas for a poem.

That said Longman, was 1,500 pounds paid for "Robbery."

"On this basis they treated and Longman was inclined to accede to a preliminary permit. Moore, however, refused and the agreement was finally worked out, that upon year and going to Longman they claimed that Mr. Moore should receive no less than 2,000 guineas for a poem.

That said Longman, was 1,500 pounds paid for "Robbery."

BETTER BE CAREFUL.
Mr. Bradbury, M.P., would prohibit the use of the British flag for advertising purposes. He had better be careful or he may get his political friends into trouble. Nobody in Canada has used the flag for advertising purposes more persistently than the Ministers whom Mr. Bradbury supports, and certainly no one has made it the emblem for a more disreputable line of junk.

MORE "DON'TS."
The superintendent of the street railway has issued a list of "don'ts" for the guidance of the boys and girls. A couple more might be added for the benefit of some grown-up boys:

"Don't stand in the rear vestibule and squirt tobacco juice over the floor, the ladies' skirts and everybody's boots."
"Don't crowd into the front vestibule and detract the motorman's attention from his business."

DESIRABLE NONE THE LESS.
One bright opinion has made the discovery that reciprocity was not necessary. That, of course, is true. But many things good and desirable are not necessary. The British preference, for example, was not really necessary, but it was a good thing all the same, both for Canada and for the Empire. Canada can, of course, get along without reciprocity, just as Canada would get along without the British preference or even without Mr. Rainville, M.P. But Canada would get along better with reciprocity, just as it gets along better with the British preference, and as it perhaps gets along better with Mr. Rainville, M.P., than it would without him.

CATTLE PRIORS.
A correspondent of the Calgary Herald writes that paper proving to his own satisfaction and that of the Herald that Mr. George Lane is losing money by shipping cattle to the Herald instead of selling them on this side of the boundary. If self-assurance be a merit, the restriction is surely a virtuous lot. The idea of anyone trying to tell George Lane how to make money out of a cattle deal is funny enough to make a steer laugh.

But supposing, for the sake of argument, that this Herald's mathematician were right. What would he prove but that the existing tariff and freight rates were a disadvantage to the Canadian cattle dealer, and hence to the Canadian cattle-grower? And that a reduction of these barriers between our cattle and the Chicago stock-yards would be a good and not a bad thing for Alberta?

NOT EVIDENCE.
Hon. Robert Rogers declared in Parliament on Thursday that he did not authorize Mr. Forget to bid the voters of Sorel with the promise of a marine railway. Mr. Forget having it firmly declared that Mr. Rogers did so, the question is now one of veracity between them. In any competition, of that kind Mr. Rogers' opponent must get the popular verdict, all else to the contrary. To say that Mr. Rogers could not tell the truth if he should ever want to would probably be an extreme statement, but since entering the Borden Government he does not seem to have given anyone warrant for a definite assertion that he can do so. Nor does anyone seem inclined to make such assertion.

And in the present instance the circumstantial evidence is weak. Mr. Forget. It is hardly conceivable that a man of his repute would have peddled bribes on the declared responsibility of his Ministerial friends unless he had their warrant for doing so. Unless the Government can produce something besides the worthless statement of Hon. Robert Rogers to the contrary, they must expect the public to believe that Mr. Forget told the truth when he said that he tendered his bribes at the instance of the present Minister of Public Works.

SHOULD THE COUNCIL
SELECT THE MAYOR?
Alderman Douglas proposes the method of electing the mayor of the city be changed from the direct to the representative; that instead of the mayor being elected by popular vote from the burgesses at large he should be chosen by the aldermen from among themselves. The effect of this change would be to put the government of the city more nearly on a par with the governmental system of the province and the Dominion. The premier of a province or of the Dominion is not chosen directly by the people, but by their representatives in the Legislature or in Parliament. The proposed scheme would substitute this representative selection for the existing method of popular election in the case of the head of the city administration.

One benefit of the arrangement would be that the mayor would usually be a man with experience in the affairs of the city. Normally the council would select its chief magistrate from one of its members who had sat in the council of the previous year, and who would thus have a degree of personal familiarity with the running of the civic machine and with the matters of current importance. That would be an undoubted advantage.

Probably under this system attention would be more keenly devoted to the selection of good men as aldermen. At present the mayoral contest is the all-absorbing event in a municipal campaign. This works out badly in two respects. Men who could equally discharge the duties of aldermen stay out of the running because they feel that the council is not a very important body—that, in fact, it does not matter much what kind of a council we have so long as the councilmen are the mayor are capable men. On the other hand, the public interest being centered in the mayoral contest, really good aldermen electing the council, instead, unless he makes considerable noise the public are likely to forget about him altogether. The proposed scheme would eliminate completely the mayoralty contest and leave public attention free to measure the merits and proposals of the men actually to be elected to the council. And the knowledge that any one of the men elected to the council might be made mayor would probably cause the voter to exercise great caution as to whom he elected as aldermen.

On the other hand, to adopt the representative system would be to adopt it as well as its good points. The weakness as well as the strength of that system is the inducement it affords for the formation of political parties. It might easily be, if the council had the electing of the mayor, that the aldermen would be found split into factions in support of two or more aspirants for the position; and that after one or more of these had won the support of the others would remain throughout the year as a factious and trouble-making opposition.

The time of the question is whether, under the proposed system, we would be likely to get a council of aldermen big enough to pay attention to municipal matters in preference to playing politics. If we could be tolerably sure of getting under it a council of the best business men in the community, the proposed arrangement would work well. But if we would be fairly likely to get a majority of small men or dishonest men in the aldermanic seats the arrangement would be bad.

In any event, the proposal is a radical one and not one for off-hand approval or condemnation. It is to be brought before the council on Tuesday evening and it will worth the serious consideration of aldermen and public.

Remarked on the Side

Diplomacy, it is reported, are working amicably towards a peaceful solution of the Italian problem. The fate of charges possibly hangs upon an extra cent of tax, and, according to Winston Churchill, it is a question now of peace or peace.

It is now announced that the illness of the Czar's son is caused by him having a skin too raw. What else could be expected after generations of hiding?

Humanist Inspector Downs wants to prohibit the use of the "black snake" only by taxmen. If pressed on the point, however, the inspector would probably be willing to admit that taxmen is too good a name for the fiend of such weapons.

One of our aldermanic candidates has said commendably for "Thou shalt not let the wicked fly." This is rather complicated matter. There are many flies that could produce proofs of a spurious life. Are there to be secured pending the inquiries of a probe committee?

It is not parliamentary language to make a man a liar, but it appears to be within the rules of debate to state in reference to an opponent that Annan has lost the championship.

Hon. Indroo Rogers says that an arrest was made in Macdonald that was not justified by circumstances. The chief circumstance, of course, was the dire necessity of closing the government candidate.

King Manuel, late of Portugal, is to have all his furniture and other personal belongings sent to him in London. Father said, if King Manuel was going to be asked to come back home again.

The financial report of the Canadian industrial exhibition has been described by a shareholder as a collection of shreds for the education of the finance. Sounds like a good shot, but as the report was for the benefit of shareholders, the financial house of a day, the booming about it.

Although Christmas is still a few weeks ahead, it is possible that the person who so expertly occupied himself after trying to get into a Jasper Avenue candy store during the night, was none other than Santa Claus in disguise. It has often been a matter of wonder where he managed to collect all his "goods."

It has been computed that Canada spends about eight million dollars a year on drink and only two million on misadventure. If, however, there were a tax on serious and a monopoly in their sale, the two items might be drawn close together.

CURRENT COMMENT.
Significant.
Winning Free Press—It is a fact not without significance that the C. P. R. should be found appealing from the railway commission to the Borden government.
Mr. Borden Please Note.
Winnipeg Telegram (Con.)—store all your reports on the cost of high living. Put them in the waste paper basket. There are no other reports on which they are printed. In two sentences an Ontario farmer has placated the problem in his life of a barrel of apples. He put inside the head of a barrel of apples.
I got 70 cents for this barrel of apples. What did you pay for it?
The Winnipeg consumer who bought that barrel of apples paid five dollars and twenty-five cents for it.
That Ontario farmer has made history. He has done more than all the committees of congress, royal commissions, boards of trade and chambers of commerce on two continents.
He has stated the problem of the high cost of living. Within a measureable number of years the solution will involve bloodshed. In Germany it almost has done so already. If we do not do the experience of that way out, we must find some other.

STREET WIDENING

European cities are now spending large sums of money in the work of widening their streets to accommodate more traffic. It is an expensive process, because the thoroughfares in these old established centres are closely built up on either side. To widen them means the destruction or the removal of many buildings, but in spite of the expense the work must be done. A greater volume of faster moving traffic demands it.

The majority of Edmonton's streets are wide, but they are not too wide. Some of them are not wide enough, and now is the time to remedy this defect—before they are closely built up. Kirkness street is to be widened next year, and a modern business block erected on Kirkness this season was set back five feet from the old street line in anticipation of the improvement. This practice of setting buildings back from the street line should be carried out more generally. On many streets it should be enforced by the civic authorities because traffic on these streets will demand more room.

The introduction of the automobile and the motor truck has marked the beginning of a new era in city traffic. Motor vehicles move faster than the old horse drawn kind. They are more dangerous to the pedestrian and for these reasons they require more room.

If Edmonton is up-to-date she will anticipate the requirements of the new order of things and provide them while such provision can be made without the expense of destroying or removing valuable buildings along the street line.

The question of widening a number of Edmonton's thoroughfares is a vital question of the present.

The Food Tax.

Wednesday, Sentinel-Review—The British tariff reformers seem to be abandoning the notion that it would be possible for Great Britain to put a tariff on food stuffs entering the country without taxing the food of the people. Lord Lansdowne, in the course of a speech the other day, declared that it was now the policy of the Union party to apply the revenue derived from such a tariff to the relief of the poor. This is taken to mean that the Unionists have given up the hope of converting the people that a tariff on food would not be a tax on food. Lord Lansdowne admits that such a tariff would mean a tax on food, but a revenue—and apparently hopes to reconcile the people to the tax by promising to divide the proceeds among the poor.

From the Economy.

Montreal Gazette—Two years ago parliament appropriated money for naval defence, and the result is seen today in what are called the Majesty's Canadian ships Niobe and Rainbow. They are part of the defensive forces of the empire, not a formidable part. It is true, but in their way a part, just as is the latest super-dreadnaught to go into commission. As Sir Wilfrid Laurier said when he announced his intention of action in the machine when Great Britain is at war Canada is at war. The criticism most heard in connection with the purchase and maintenance of the ships named was that not enough had been done. Sometimes it came from those who thought the country could run in naval race before it had taught itself to walk; sometimes it was heard from those who were not just sure what it was they had in their mind. To the mass of the people the action taken was regarded as a step in the discharge of a natural and logical duty, the taking of the steps which were necessary to be able to bear, and the bearing of

Daring Attempt to Burglarize Sommerville's Hardware Store

Night Watchman Fires Revolver and Frightens Marauders—Then Only Out Police—Attempt Also Made to Enter a Second Hand Store on Queen's Ave.

A daring attempt was made this morning about 2:30 to break into Sommerville's hardware store at First street. Only the discharge of a revolver by the night watchman at the store prevented the burglar from getting through the window on the west side of the store. The man of petty thieves who for the past month have been concentrating their efforts on the wholesale district of the city. While he was engaged in his duties around the store this morning the watchman heard a noise at the rear of the building. At first he thought it was the policeman on duty trying the door at the rear of the store. But the noise continued and the suspicious of the watchman were confirmed. Creeping toward the noise the watchman fired his revolver through the window. He then shot the burglar, who was working on the roof of the store at the rear of the store and attempting to effect an entrance at one of the windows on the second story. He waited to hear no more and rushed for his revolver and fired it through the window on the left side of the store. The burglar was then seen to jump through the window which he fired the shot. A few minutes later the officer on duty patrolling the lane at the rear of Queen's avenue, just off the corner of the store, saw a second-hand store at 14 Queen's avenue. A pair of blue jeans had been smashed in the door at the rear of the store, and it is probable that if the policeman had not happened along just at this juncture another robbery would have been reported to the police. The case was smashed by the police and the burglar was taken to the hospital. No trace of the thief could be found.

Prisoned Bank Aves.
The police automobile containing Sergeant Smith, Detective Coughlin and Detective Dineen was returning to the scene. A thorough search of the premises was made, but it was quickly apparent that the firing of the revolver had frightened the burglar away. When the telephone call was received at the police station the officers on duty made every preparation to round up the gang at it was hoped that this would be the solution of the difficulties which have been the police department for the past month. But, despite last night's attempt, the thieves are still free.

Watchman Was Ejected
When the police arrived at the store the night watchman was considerably excited and scarcely able to give a clear account of the events of the night. He stated that the burglar, or burglars, were working on the roof of the store at the rear of the store and attempting to effect an entrance at one of the windows on the second story. He waited to hear no more and rushed for his revolver and fired it through the window on the left side of the store. The burglar was then seen to jump through the window which he fired the shot. A few minutes later the officer on duty patrolling the lane at the rear of Queen's avenue, just off the corner of the store, saw a second-hand store at 14 Queen's avenue. A pair of blue jeans had been smashed in the door at the rear of the store, and it is probable that if the policeman had not happened along just at this juncture another robbery would have been reported to the police. The case was smashed by the police and the burglar was taken to the hospital. No trace of the thief could be found.

WANTED!

Money to Fight the People's Battle

The Finance Committee in charge of Alderman Joseph A. Clarke's majority campaign, have found it necessary to appeal to the fair minded public for subscriptions to defray the expenses of this campaign.

As this is the people's fight for their rights, and as our candidate has no connection with wealthy corporations or large real estate operators, who might donate sufficient funds to conduct this campaign, we have no hesitation in putting this appeal to the public.

The campaign expenses, so far, have been defrayed by donations from personal friends of the candidate, and as the heaviest part of the fight is yet to come, we wish to emphasize the fact that those desirous of contributing, will confer a favor by forwarding same as soon as possible.

Make all cheques payable to the secretary-treasurer, A. W. C. SCRIVER.

This is a winning fight, and one where the man who earns his living by the sweat of his brow has the greatest opportunity to win his rights.

Alderman Clarke has shown you where he stands in regard to those rights you prize so dearly, and now is your opportunity to back him up in this campaign.

Our books are open for inspection whenever requested.

Signed on behalf of the Finance Committee,

A. W. C. SCRIVER, JOS. W. ADAIR,
Secretary-Treasurer. Chairman.

COMING VAUDEVILLE.

Will Creery, one of the most versatile and prolific vaudeville sketch writers in America, and in addition an exceptionally clever character actor, heads the Orpheum bill which opens at the Sherman Grand theatre next week, commencing with a matinee Thursday afternoon. With Creery is Miss Blanche Dayne, who has been associated with the act since he has been in vaudeville, and has contributed largely to the success of many of his acts. Creery and Dayne will be seen in "The Village Lawyer," one of his most recent and successful plays.

Warren and Blanchard were formerly married stars. They have a comedy act that is very amusing and which includes an improvisation by Warren of a colored subrept that is said to be extremely funny.

Lola Merrill and Frank Otto offer a dainty bit of amusement styled "After the Success." It has some musical and is prettily staged.

The Harvey family combine some of the best wire artists that have ever come to America. Their work is finished and includes a variety of stunts that are not generally got up by slack and fast wire performers. There are five members of the family and years of effort have made them experts in their line of work.

The two leaders of the Harvey troupe are considered by critics to be about the most accomplished lady acrobats in Europe.

Misses Marion and Jessie Handish have a singing act that is out of the ordinary, because the two young ladies have not attempted to rely upon musical or popular music of the day to win the plaudits of the audience. They

BEWARE OF BLOOD-POISON

Zam-Ink Is a Sure Cure.

Mr. Jas. Davery, of 145 Ellice Avenue, Winnipeg, says:—"A few months since I was cured of a poisoned finger through the timely use of Zam-Ink. I cut a deep gash across the knuckle on the first finger of my right hand in opening a lobster. I suffered at the time with the itching and pain, but had no idea it would become a serious wound. However, as about two days I was greatly alarmed, as my whole hand and arm to the elbow became suddenly inflamed, and the finger was much distended, showing signs of blood-poisoning. The pain was dreadful and I was forced to leave off my work and go home."

"The wound on the knuckle had been poisoned by dirt and dirt getting into it. I then decided to start the Zam-Ink treatment, and having first bathed the cut, I applied the Zam-Ink. It soothed the pain at once, and by next day there was a great improvement."

"In a week's time, through perseverance with this wonderful preparation, complete cure was brought about."

Zam-Ink is just as good for eczema, ulcers, white, sore, abscesses, piles, ringworms, boils, various ulcers, running sores, cold sores, chapped hands, etc. It draws out poisonous fluidness from a wound or sore and then heals. Use it, too, for cuts, burns, bruises and all skin injuries. Zam-Ink ointment should be used in conjunction to the balm for washing wounds and sore places. Excellent too, for baby's bath.

All drug stores and stores sell Zam-Ink at 50c box and Zam-Ink Soap at 25c tablet. Free upon receipt of price from Zam-Ink Co., Toronto.

"THE LOTTERY MAN" AT LYCEUM
Miss Johnson Young's famous comedy, "The Lottery Man," will be staged by the winning company of the Lyceum next week, commencing Monday evening, and it should prove one of the best plays seen at this popular house for several weeks. Miss Young is the author of "Strenuous Harvest" and other well known comedies, and all her plays contain a peculiar vein of comedy that is not found in the average run of latter-day productions.

"The Lottery Man" was the New York production of last season and a tremendous run at the Lyceum theatre. Elaborate preparations have been made by the management of the Lyceum company for an excellent presentation of the play next week, and the stage settings and scenic equipment will be of an extremely modern order.

SPORT FROM ALL ANGLES

The skips of the Royal and Capital curling clubs are wearing a worried expression these days. The leaders of the rinks are anxiously coming over the membership looking for the best available curling material. It is only a matter of a few days now until the roarin' game is in full swing. Both clubs have appointed their skips and the rinks will be made up as quickly as possible. Ice will probably be ready by the end of the week, and then for a season of the grand old winter pastime.

With their usual delight in knocking anything pertaining to Edmonton, Calgary sporting scribes during the past few days have been panning Jack Dewar, president of the Western Canada baseball league, for not calling the annual meeting of that body. In order that the southerners may cease worrying their tin snouts they are hereby duly given notice that the aforesaid meeting will be held within the next two or three weeks. The league president has no desire to appear dilatory in the matter and is fairly waiting for the return of the W.C.B. secretary, who is at present sojourning in the east.

Although the chilly November winds are whistling through the whiskers of the fans and baseball is practically a dead number at this season of the year, it may be stated that the outlook is bright for a good season of baseball in Western Canada next summer. The Saskatchewan cities are gradually waking up to the fact that they have been out in the cold for a number of years and would welcome a return to a good class of professional baseball. This applies to Regina, Moose Jaw and Prince Albert. Saskatoon always was a something when professional ball is mentioned. If Medicine Hat and Lethbridge can be swung, there is nothing to say but an excellent eight-club circuit next year. But more will be known when the magnates convene at the annual meeting some time in December.

STOVALL, NOT BRENNAN, WILL MANAGE BROWNS

Edmonton, Nov. 29.—(Robt. Hedges, president of the St. Louis American league baseball team, to act as manager of that club. Hedges, in this disposing of the matter that he had attempted to obtain the services of Robert Brennan, declared he was thoroughly satisfied with Stovall's work. Brennan had been called to obtain Brennan as a catcher, but as manager he added, however, that Brennan was not fit to position to leave the St. Louis league.

HEAVY FINE IMPOSED ON TORONTO RUGBY PLAYER

Toronto, Nov. 29.—Frank Hefferman, the Toronto rugby club's star wing man, was fined $10 and costs, or 30 days imprisonment in today's police court for contravening the quarantine regulations of the health act, by leaving a house under quarantine for multiple to play in the Toronto-Atletico game two weeks ago Saturday. The magistrate in imposing this penalty made it clear that the law demands compliance and that, though the player had been called to obtain Brennan as a catcher, but as manager he added, however, that Brennan was not fit to position to leave the St. Louis league.

The player, after each play the bowler touches the button, the pins are automatically sent to the top of the pin. The surface of the pins is made of a material that is not easily scratched. TOO LITTLE A SPORT, TOO MUCH A BUSINESS

Senator McCreath's Legislative Will Forthrightly Declared Shooting in That Province.

Regina, Nov. 23.—Hon. W. C. McCreath, senator, Saskatchewan, gave notice in the House of Commons today that he would on Monday move a resolution urging the desirability of the Dominion Government appropriating for a period of years a sufficient sum of money to enable each of the provinces to extend and improve its educational system, so as to suitably provide better technical, industrial, and agricultural training, the money to be apportioned by Parliament according to the population of the several provinces.

Some drastic changes in the Game Act were proposed by Hon. W. C. McCreath on the second reading of the amendment to the Act for the Protection of Game. Duck shooting, he declared, was becoming too little of a sport and too much of a business, and it was proposed to limit one person's shot to fifty birds in one day and no more than 250 in a season.

It is also provided that no person shall travel with a flock of big game or game birds without a special license. In view of the great number of children during the last few years the season for chickens is to be extended from October 1st to November 1st.
